

THE UNIVERSITY of EDINBURGH
School of History, Classics
& Archaeology

CONFERENCE

Viva la differenza?

Italian towns in the early middle ages, 500-1100

29th – 30th May 2015

Meadows Lecture Theatre, Teviot Place

Dr Tom Brown, well-known for his scholarly work on early medieval Ravenna, will be retiring from the History Subject Area in Edinburgh in the summer of 2015. This conference marks Tom's wide contribution to the study of early medieval Europe, as well as his three decades of service as a lecturer in History at Edinburgh. The conference theme relates to Tom's enduring interest in the development of urban settlement and culture across early medieval Europe.

Speakers

Dr Ross Balzaretto, University of Nottingham
Dr Neil Christie, University of Leicester
Dr Enrico Cirelli, University of Bologna
Dr Eddie Coleman, University College Dublin
Dr Roger Collins, Edinburgh
Emeritus Professor Edward James, Trinity College Dublin
Dr Simon Loseby, University of Sheffield
Dr Vivien Prigent, CNRS, Paris
Professor Bryan Ward-Perkins, Oxford

Registration

£30 conference fee.
More information online at:
www.shca.ed.ac.uk/tb-retirement

Sponsored by

Centre for Medieval and Renaissance Studies

Image: Emilia Ravenna5, Tango7174, Wikimedia Commons

